Report of Independent Auditors

To the Board of Trustees of William Marsh Rice University

In our opinion, the accompanying consolidated statement of financial position and the related consolidated statements of activities and cash flows present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of William Marsh Rice University at June 30, 2010, and the changes in its net assets and its cash flows for the year then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. These financial statements are the responsibility of the University's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit. The prior year summarized comparative information has been derived from the University's 2009 financial statements. In our report dated October 29, 2009, we expressed an unqualified opinion on those financial statements. We conducted our audit of these statements in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements, assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, and evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

1. Basis of Presentation and Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Basia of Presentation

William Marsh Rice University (the "University") is a Texas not-for-profit corporation that operates a private research university in Houston, Texas. The consolidated financial statements of the University as of June 30, 2010, and for the year then ended, have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. Accordingly, the accompanying consolidated financial statements have been prepared on the accrual basis of accounting and include the accounts of the University and all wholly-owned subsidiaries. All material transactions between the University and its subsidiaries have been eliminated.

The financial statements include certain prior year summarized comparative information in total but not by net asset class. Such information does not include sufficient detail to constitute a presentation in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. Accordingly, such information should be read in conjunction with the University's financial statements for the year ended June 30, 2009, from which the summarized information was derived. Certain reclassifications of 2009 information have been made to conform to the 2010 presentation.

Net Asset Categories

Standards for external financial reporting by not-for-profit organizations require that resources be classified for reporting purposes into three net asset categories according to donor-imposed restrictions. A description of the University's three net asset categories follows:

- a. Unrestricted net assets and related activity include the following:
 - (1) All revenues traditionally classified as unrestricted resources of the University, including tuition and fees, unrestricted gifts, investment returns on unrestricted funds designated to function as endowment, recovery of facilities and administrative costs from grants and contracts, and auxiliary enterprise revenues.
 - (2) Revenues related to sponsored research and other sponsored program agreements, which are considered exchange transactions.
 - (3) Unrestricted funds functioning as endowment and related investment returns.
 - (4) Gifts with donor imposed restrictions, if the restriction will be met within the current fiscal year of the University.
 - (5) Investments in plant assets.
 - (6) All expenses of the University.
- b. Temporarily restricted net assets include investment returns from unrestricted endowments and from restricted endowments and gifts for which donor-imposed restrictions have not been met. The restriction on unrestricted endowment returns (income and realized and unrealized gains and losses) is released when appropriations are distributed for use in the current fiscal year. The category also includes piedges receivable and life-income gifts for which the ultimate purpose of the proceeds is not permanently restricted.

c. Permanently restricted net assets include gifts, trusts and pledges on which donors have imposed the restriction that the corpus be maintained in perpetuity and only the investment returns be made available for program operations. In the case of trusts, gains and losses are added to the gift amount. Gifts restricted by donors to provide loans to students are also included in permanently restricted net assets.

The terms of certain gifts of real property made by the founder of the University provided that all returns realized from these properties are to be invested to generate income to be used for University purposes. Changes in the market value of these specific properties, whether gains or losses, are recorded as permanently restricted as required by the donor.

Expirations of temporary restrictions on net assets are reported as reclassifications between the applicable classes of net assets. Donor required matching from University funds and donor release or clarification of restrictions are also included in this category.

Texas adopted the Uniform Prudent Management of Institutional Funds Act (UPMIFA) In September, 2007, and the standard was effective for fiscal years ending after December 15, 2008. The Board of Trustees Interpreted UPMIFA as requiring the preservation of the original gift as of the gift date of the donor restricted endowment funds absent explicit donor stipulation to the contrary. As a result of this interpretation, the University classifies as permanently restricted net assets, (a) the original value of gifts donated to the permanent endowment, (b) the original value of subsequent gifts to the permanent endowment, and (c) accumulations to the permanent endowment made in accordance with the direction of the applicable donor gift instrument at the time the accumulation is added to the fund. The remaining portion of the donor restricted endowment fund that is not classified as permanently restricted net assets is classified as temporarily restricted net assets until those amounts are appropriated for expenditure by the University in a manner consistent with the standard of prudence prescribed by UPMIFA (Note 5).

Contributions

Contributions, including unconditional promises to give and irrevocable trusts held by others under which the University is the beneficiary, are recognized as revenues in the period received or promised. Contributions restricted for the acquisition of land, buildings and equipment are reported as temporarily restricted revenues. These contributions are reclassified to unrestricted net assets when the assets are placed in service. Promises to give that are subject to donor-imposed stipulations that the corpus be maintained in perpetuity are recognized as increases in permanently restricted net assets.

Conditional promises to give are not recognized until the conditions on which they depend are substantially met. Contributions of essets other than cash are reported at their estimated fair value at the date of gift. Contributions scheduled to be received after one year are discounted using a market rate (Note 3). Amortization of the discount is recorded as contribution revenue.

Operating and Nonoperating Activities

The consolidated statement of activities reports the change in net assets from the University's operating and nonoperating activities. Operating activities exclude (a) gifts and pledges for property and endowment (including annuity and life-income trusts), (b) release from restrictions of contributions restricted for the acquisition of property and equipment, (c) donor release of restrictions from permanently restricted net assets, (d) endowment returns net of the University's operating needs as defined by University epending policy (Note 5), (e) actuarial adjustments of annuities payable and (f) changes in fair value of swap agreements (Note 6 and Note 9).

Cash and Cash Equivalents

The University considers all highly liquid financial instruments with an original maturity of 90 days or less to be cash and cash equivalents, except those amounts assigned to its investment managers and unspent commercial paper proceeds, which are classified as investments.

investments and Other Financial instruments

Investments are made within guidelines authorized by the University's Board of Trustees, Investments are initially recorded at cost at date of acquisition or fair value at date of donation in the case of gifts. Ownership of marketable securities is recognized as of the trade date. Marketable securities transactions that have not settled are recognized as accounts receivable or accounts payable until the settlement date. Endowment returns are calculated net of internal and external investment management expenses.

Investments are stated at fair value. Fair value is defined as the exchange price that would be received for an asset or paid to transfer a liability (an exit price) in the principal or most advantageous market for the asset or liability in an orderly transaction between market participants on the measurement date.

The estimated fair value of investments is based on quoted market prices, except for alternative investments for which quoted market prices are not available. The University has adopted a hierarchy of valuation inputs based on the extent to which the inputs are observable in the marketplace. Observable inputs reflect market data and unobservable inputs reflect the University's own assumptions about how market participants would value an asset or liability based on the best information available.

The following describes the hierarchy of inputs used to measure fair value and the primary valuation methodologies used by the University for financial instruments measured at fair value on a recurring basis (Note 6). The three levels of inputs are as follows:

- Level 1 Quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities.
- Level 2 Inputs other than Level 1 that are observable, either directly or indirectly, such as quoted prices for similar assets or liabilities; quoted prices in markets that are not active; or other inputs that are observable or can be corroborated by observable market data for substantially the same term of the assets or liabilities.
- Level 3 Unobservable inputs that are supported by little or no market activity and that are significant to the fair value of the assets or liabilities.

A financial instrument's categorization within the valuation hierarchy is based upon the lowest level of input that is significant to the fair value measurement.

The estimated fair value of certain alternative investments, such as private equity and other limited partnership interests, is based on valuations provided by the general partners or partnership valuation committees. Such valuations consider variables such as financial performance of investments, recent sale prices of similar investments and other pertinent information. The University reviews and evaluates the values, the valuation methods and assumptions provided by the investment managers and used in determining the fair value. Because alternative investments are not readily marketable, their estimated fair value is subject to uncertainty and therefore may differ from the value that would have been used had a ready market for such investments existed. These differences could be material.

The fair value of real estate, timber, oil and gas and other investments is estimated by professional appraisers or University management.

Derivative financial instruments are recorded on the statement of financial position as either an asset or liability measured at its fair value as of the reporting date. Derivative financial instruments consist of interest rate swaps and energy hedge agreements. Changes in the fair value of these derivatives are recognized in the statement of activities.

The University's Investments are exposed to a number of risks including interest rate, market, and credit risks. Due to the level of risk exposure, it is possible that changes in the valuation of these investments may occur in the near term and that such changes could be material.

Property and Equipment

Educational property is stated at cost for purchased assets and fair market value at the date of donation in the case of gifts. Interest expense incurred during the period of construction of an asset for University use is capitalized until that asset is substantially completed and ready for use. The University depreciates its educational property assets (excluding works of art, which are not depreciated) using the straight-line method over their estimated useful lives. Repairs and maintenance of property and equipment are expensed as incurred. Equipment is removed from the records at the time of disposal.

Asset Retirement Obligations

The University recognizes asset retirement obligations (AROs) that are conditional on a future event, such as the legal obligation to safely dispose of assestos when a building is remodeled or demolished. The University measures conditional AROs at estimated fair value using a probability-weighted, discounted cash flow model with multiple scenarios, if applicable. The present value of weighted, discounted cash flows is calculated annually using credit-adjusted, risk-free rates applicable to the University in order to determine the estimated fair value of the conditional AROs.

Life-income Agreements

Life-income agreements include charitable remainder trusts and gift annuities. Charitable remainder trusts hold donated assets for which the University's subsidiary acts as trustee and periodically pays specified amounts to the designated beneficiaries. Generally, beneficiary payments are a fixed amount for annuity trusts and a fixed percentage of the fair market value of the trust assets or based on income earned for other charitable remainder trusts. At a date specified in each gift instrument, usually the beneficiary's date of death, ownership of the trust assets will transfer to the University and the beneficiary payments will cease. The University also traces late gift annuity agreements, which require that the University take ownership of the assets effect date of gift with an obligation to periodically pay specified amounts to designated the latest dates for their lifetimes. Assets held in life-income trusts and those assets associated with gift annulties are included in investments. Contribution revenues are recognized at the date the trusts or gift annuities are established. Liabilities are recorded at the same time using actuarial tables established by the Internal Revenue Service and discounted according to the risk-free rate at the time of the gift. Discount rates range from 4% to 6%. The liability represents the present value of the estimated future payments to be made to the beneficiaries. The liabilities are adjusted annually for changes in the value of the assets and actuarial changes, which impact the estimates of future payments.

Government refundable advances

The University participates in the Perkins revolving loan program, which is funded principally by advances from the federal government. These advances are refundable to the federal government if the program is terminated or if the University ceases to participate in the program.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of consolidated financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets, liabilities, revenues, expenses and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities. Actual results could differ from these estimates.

Tay Status

The University is exempt from federal income tax to the extent provided under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code. The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) issued a determination letter in January, 1938 that recognized the University as exempt from federal income tax under section 501(c) (3). The IRS confirmed in 2008 that this exemption still applies.

The University has ten wholly-owned subsidiary corporations that are included in the consolidated financial statements. Seven of these subsidiary corporations are exempt from federal income taxes under 501(c)(2), one is exempt under 501(c)(3), and two are subject to taxation. The University is classified as an organization that is not a private foundation under section 509(a) of the Internal Revenue Code because it is described in sections 509(a)(1) and 170(b)(1)(A)(ii) and, as such, gifts to the University qualify for deduction as charitable contributions. The University and its subsidiary corporations that are exempt from federal income tax are required to pay federal income tax on unrelated business income. The University and its subsidiary corporations did not have any material income tax liabilities for the years ended June 30, 2010 and 2009. The University has no financial reporting requirements for uncertain tax positions for the years ended June 30, 2010 and 2009.

Subsequent Events

For the year ended June 30, 2010, the University evaluated subsequent events from July 1, 2010 to October 28, 2010, the date these financial statements were issued.

2. Accounts Receivable and Other Assets

Accounts receivable and other assets of the University at June 30, 2010 and 2009, were as follows:

(in thousands of dollars)	 2010		2009
Unsettled investment sales	$ 5,372	$	4,938

3. Piedges Receivable

Unconditional promises to give are included in the consolidated financial statements as piedges receivable and revenue of the appropriate net asset category. Multi-year piedges are recorded after discounting to the present value of expected future cash flows. Unconditional promises to give at June 30, 2010 and 2009, are expected to be realized in the following periods:

(in thousands of dollars)	 2010	2009

Pledges receivable at June 30, 2010 and 2009, had the following restrictions:

Less: Allowance for uncollectible pledges	 (6,453)	 (7,525)
	$ 131,246	$ 155,407

Discount rates ranging from 2% to 6% are used to discount pledges. A reserve rate of 4% is used for the allowance for uncollectible pledges. The reserve rate is reviewed periodically to ensure adequate provision for uncollectible amounts.

During fiscal 2008, the University received a conditional piedge towards term and permanent endowments to support the activities of an academic center. Up to $9,000,000 of this piedge remains conditional and will be recognized as contribution revenue in the years in which the conditions are met.

4. Investments

Investments at June 30, 2010 and 2009, were as follows:

(in thousands of dollars)	2010

The table above includes annuity and life income fund assets of $131,946,000 and $122,950,000 as of June 30, 2010 and 2009, respectively. The repurchase agreements included in the above table represent unspent bond proceeds that were used to fund project expenditures in 2010 (Note 9).

The following table presents investment income and net gains (losses) for the year ended June 30, 2010 by net asset classification, with summarized information for the year ended June 30, 2009:

investment earnings are presented net of internal and external investment management expenses of $43,967,000 and $44,740,000 in 2010 and 2009, respectively.

5. Endowments

The University's endowment consists of approximately 1,400 individual donor restricted endowment funds and approximately 100 funds designated by the Board of Trustees to function as endowments. The net assets associated with endowment funds, including funds designated by the Board of Trustees to function as endowments, are classified and reported based on the existence or absence of donor imposed restrictions.

The following table presents endowment net asset composition by type of fund for the year ended June 30, 2010, with summarized information for the year ended June 30, 2009:

(in thousands of dollars)	Unrestricted	Temporarily Restricted	Permanently Restricted	Total	Total
Donor restricted endowment funds Board designated endowment funds Total endowment funds	$ (2,237) 1,694,033 $ 1,691,796	$ 1,207,836 1,031 $ 1,208,667	$ 935,060 $ 935,060	$ 2,140,659 1,695,064 $ 3,835,723	$ 2,019,891 1,645,376 $ 3,665,267

The Board of Trustees of the University has interpreted the Uniform Prudent Management of Institutional Funds Act (UPMIFA) as requiring the preservation of the original gift as of the gift date of the donor restricted endowment funds absent explicit donor stipulations to the contrary. As a result of this interpretation, the University classifies as permanently restricted net assets, (a) the original value of gifts donated to the permanent endowment, (b) the original value of subsequent gifts to the permanent endowment, and (c) accumulations to the permanent endowment made in accordance with the direction of the applicable donor gift instrument. The remaining portion of the donor restricted endowment fund that is not classified in permanently restricted net assets is classified as temporarily restricted net assets until those amounts are appropriated for expenditure by the University in a manner consistent with the standard of prudence prescribed by UPMIFA. In accordance with UPMIFA, the University considers the following factors in making a determination to appropriate or accumulate endowment funds:

- (1) The duration and preservation of the fund
- (2) The purposes of the University and the donor restricted endowment fund
- (3) General economic conditions
- (4) The possible effect of inflation and deflation
- (5) The expected total return from income and the appreciation of investments
- (6) Other resources of the University
- (7) The investment policies of the University

Endowment Investment Policles

The University has adopted endowment investment policies that attempt to provide a predictable stream of funding to programs supported by its endowment while seeking to maintain, and, if possible, enhance the purchasing power of endowment assets. The University has a diversified approach to management of the endowment investment portfolio. By diversifying among asset classes and rebalancing toward policy target allocations, the University strives to manage and maintain the risk profile implied by the policy targets adopted by the board.

To achieve its long-term return objectives, the University relies on a total return strategy in which investment returns are achieved through both capital appreciation (realized and unrealized gains) and current yield (interest and dividends). The University's diversified asset allocation places greater emphasis on equity based investments to achieve its long-term objectives within prudent risk and liquidity constraints. The long-term investment objectives of the endowment are to attain an average annual real total return in excess of endowment spending and to outperform various strategic policy and comparable industry universe benchmarks over the long term.

Endowment Spending Allocation and Relationship of Spending Policy to Investment Objectives

The Board of Trustees of the University approves the appropriation of endowment funds for expenditure. In establishing a distribution policy, the Board of Trustees considered a number of factors, including the expected long term investment rate of return on the endowment. Accordingly, over the long term, the University expects the current spending policy to allow its endowment to grow, consistent with its intention to maintain the purchasing power of the endowment assets while providing a relatively predictable and stable (In real terms) stream of earnings for current use. Under the University's endowment earnings distribution policy, endowment returns, net of operating distributions, are reinvested in the investment pool as temporarily restricted net assets functioning as endowment.

Endowment Funds with Deficits

From time to time, the fair value of assets associated with individual donor restricted endowment funds may fall below the value of the initial and subsequent donor gift amounts (deficit). These deficits result when unfavorable market fluctuations occur shortly after the investment of newly established endowments. Deficits of this type in donor restricted endowments totaled $2,237,000 as of June 30, 2010 and $6,599,000 as of June 30, 2009. Donor restricted endowment deficits are classified as a reduction of unrestricted net assets in the year they occur. In fiscal 2010, $4,362,000 was returned to unrestricted net assets due to the reduction in deficits within donor restricted endowments.

Changes in endowment net assets for the year ended June 30, 2010 with summarized information for the year ended June 30, 2009 were:

Transfers out of level 3 for assets include five hedge fund investments that were reclassified to level 2 as redemption was made available as of June 30, 2010. The new agreement shown in liabilities is an energy hedge agreement.

Limited partnership investments held by the University may be subject to restrictions that limit (i) the University's ability to redeem/withdraw capital from such investments during a specified period of time subsequent to the University's investment of capital in such funds and/or (ii) the amount of capital that investors may redeem/withdraw as of given redemption/withdrawal dates. Capital available for redemption/withdrawal may also be subject to redemption/withdrawal charges and may or may not include capital attributable to the University's participation in lilliquid investments and/or designated investments held by the investments from which the University makes redemption/withdrawals. These investments generally limit redemptions to monthly, quarterly, semi-annually, annually or longer, at fair value, and require between 30 and 90 days' prior written notice, limiting the University's ability to respond quickly to changes in market conditions.

The University entered into agreements to hedge the cost of natural gas with a final termination of March 2012. The fair value of the agreements is the estimated amount that the University would pay or receive to terminate these contracts as of June 30, 2010. The estimated fair value of these arrangements was a liability of $846,000 as of June 30, 2010. The change in value is reported as other nonoperating expense for 2010 on the Consolidated Statement of Activities. Interest rate swap agreements relate to outstanding debt (Note 9).

The University has various sources of internal liquidity at its disposal, including cash, cash equivalents and marketable debt and equity securities. At June 30, 2010, management estimates that it could have liquidated approximately $2.6 billion (unaudited) within a one year period.

13. Related Party Transactions

Members of the University's Board of Trustees and senior management may, from time to time, be associated, either directly or through interlocking board memberships, with entities doing business with the University. The University employs a conflict of Interest policy that requires any such associations to be disclosed in writing on an annual basis and updated as appropriate during the year. When such associations exist, measures are taken to mitigate any actual or perceived conflict, including recusal of the board member from any decisions involving the entity doing business with the University. The transactions with entitles associated with trustees or senior management are not considered to be significant and may include investment management, common membership in investment partnerships or other investment vehicles, or the purchase of goods or services.

14. Retirement Plans

Substantially all employees are eligible to participate in a defined contribution retirement plan, which is administered by an outside agency. The plan operates in accordance with Section 401(a) of the internal Revenue Code. University contributions are made to this plan. In addition, employees may elect to participate in plans created under Section 403(b) of the Internal Revenue Code. The contributions of the University and its employees may be applied to annuity contracts. The University's contributions to the plan of $18,255,000 and $17,459,000 were recorded as expense in the appropriate functional categories in 2010 and 2009, respectively.

15. Commitments and Contingencies

A number of suits and claims are pending against the University. While final outcomes cannot be determined at this time, management believes, after consultation with its legal counsel, that the uninsured liability, if any, resulting from these suits and claims will not have a material adverse effect on the University's financial position.

The University receives funding from federal government agencies for research and other programs conducted under government grants and contracts. The grants and contracts provide for reimbursement of direct and indirect costs. Indirect costs are reimbursed under a negotiated rate agreement with the federal government; the rate is predetermined through fiscal year 2011. The costs recovered by the University in support of federally sponsored programs are subject to audit and adjustment.

In connection with its private equity investment program (Note 4), the University is obligated under certain limited partnership agreements to advance additional funding up to levels specified in each agreement upon the request of the general partner. At June 30, 2010 and 2009, the University had unfunded commitments of $622,737,000 and $771,980,000, respectively, which are expected to be called primarily over the next five to seven years.
